ST. LOUIS (Date) – The beat goes on for BLUE MAN GROUP as they announce an unprecedented third U.S. leg to their mega-successful concert tour, which has been rocking arenas all over North and South America since last fall and drawing rave reviews from critics and fans alike. The tour, called How To Be A Megastar Tour 2.1, kicks off Friday, October 5, 2007 in Houston, Texas at the Toyota Center.

By popular demand, the 44 additional dates will bring the BLUE MAN GROUP full production rock tour back across the United States, including stops in Dallas, Indianapolis, Des Moines, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Nashville, Atlanta, Denver, Austin and more!

Executive Tour Producer Paul J. Emery, III of Emery Entertainment, stated, “The fan response to the Megastar event has been outstanding across the country and the demand for encore performances is far-reaching. We are thrilled to be able to add an additional U.S. leg of the tour following the group’s international performances.”

Echoing the positive is co-executive Tour Producer, Irv Zuckerman of Pacific Arts Entertainment, who commented, “It is a huge pleasure to work with the entire BLUE MAN GROUP organization who are professional from start to finish.”

BLUE MAN GROUP continues their world tour with their How To Be A Megastar Tour 2.1. After ordering a tongue-in-cheek “how-to manual,” BLUE MAN GROUP is joined by an eight-piece band and takes us through step-by-step, song-by-song, head-bobbing, fist-pumping moments of a real concert. The result: a uniquely clever interactive show that delivers hypnotic entertainment for all ages!

Jennie Willink, Executive Producer of the tour for Blue Man Productions, said, “We are thrilled to continue the momentum we’ve built with Emery Entertainment and Pacific Arts Entertainment for the ‘Megastar’ tour. Seeing BLUE MAN GROUP live is a ‘not to be missed’ experience and we are all proud to continue sharing this fun and captivating production with so many fans all over the country.”
